The principles of marketing

Created in 1960 by Jerome McCarthy, traditional marketing was based on the 4 P's

- Product
- Place
- Price
- Promotion

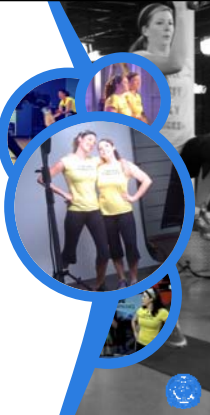

This was when the Marketers would tell you why you should buy their product (ie. Features and benefits, price reduction, promotion, etc)

With internet marketing, open forums, places for EVERYONE to share their opinions + rise social awareness + need for purpose + we buy on how we feel...now the customer is in control and marketing has changed!

Do you remember the Dawn Commercial :
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1JRE8dmlUxs>

The 4 E's vs the 4 P's

- 1. EXPERIENCE (replaces Product)
 - stop thinking just about your product and start thinking about the full experience.
 - Think about the results of your customer and how you want them to feel
- 2. EVERYPLACE (replaces Place)
 - intercept consumers on their turf and on their terms
 - Think about where they are and meet them there
- 3. EXCHANGE (replaces Price)
 - Today's marketing leader needs to be aware of the value of things. Know what it takes for a consumer to give you precious things like their attention, their engagement and their permission
- 4. EVANGELISM (replaces Promotion)
 - creating a mission and brand experience that are so inspiring to consumers that they engage with you - and share their enthusiasm with others

CASE STUDY: LET'S LOOK AT DOVE REAL BEAUTY CAMPAIGN

The Dove brand is over 50 years old. Its heritage was in selling simple and honest beauty products to women. It was successful, but we all believed there was more potential. It was when we linked together the brand's best self with a cultural truth about women and beauty that the business really took off.

It started with a research insight: after decades of stereotyping by the fashion and beauty industries, global research revealed that only two percent of women believe they are beautiful. The leaders of Dove took a different view – women's beauty today is much more diverse in age and size and color. Real beauty is what matters.

And so Dove's Big Ideal was articulated as: "Dove believes the world would be a better place if women were allowed to feel good about themselves."

Rather than just tell women its theory, Dove decided to engage women around the world in a debate. And so the Campaign for Real Beauty was born. It started with a website and a public relations campaign. Women were invited to join the debate, and millions did. One Dove viral video, Evolution, achieved such astonishing consumer sharing and free media support that it has been seen by an estimated 500 million viewers. And the Campaign for Real Beauty has helped drive Dove sales to record levels.

HOW TO FIND YOUR IDEAL CUSTOMER

...and why this is SUPER important to your marketing success!

Finding the right customers

In business, you may have heard of the term “target market” or target audience.

Here is the definition from entrepreneur.com A specific group of consumers at which a company aims its products and services.

MARKET SEGMENTATION APPROACHES

GEOGRAPHICAL	DEMOGRAPHIC	PSYCHOGRAPHIC	BEHAVIORAL
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • continent • country • territory/region • city • density • climate • population • industry location • city area 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • age • gender • family size • occupation • income • education • religion • race • nationality 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • lifestyle • social class • needs/beliefs/interests/attitudes • personal values • attitudes 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • occasions • degree of loyalty • benefits sought • usage • buyer readiness • usage • user status

Finding the right customers

Sample of FIT CHICKS Target market:

- Women age 18-60
- Stay at home moms, single women, married women
- Don't like or intimidated by the gym
- Fitness oriented but not avid athletes
- Minimal to average education in nutrition and fitness
- Looking to feel part of a community of like minded women

While a target market gives you a broad idea, it doesn't help you get into the heart, mind or speak of your ideal client (ie it can make your marketing sound generic)

How can you really create awesome marketing messages? Create a customer avatar!

Finding the right customers

WHAT IS A CUSTOMER AVATAR?

A customer avatar is simply a very detailed profile of 1 target customer.

You are going to GET PERSONAL about your customer's life, dreams, wants, hopes, fears and desires so you can speak directly to them

This an amazing exercise to help you:

1. Get really focused on speaking to the right people to not waste $ or time
2. Give you direction as to where to spend your $ or time
3. Create marketing copy (ie facebook ads, blog posts, newsletters) that is specific and comes from a very connected place
4. It will feel personal and authentic

Let's look at your Customer Avatar worksheet!

How to create effective marketing messages

Creating your marketing messages

- 1. Show what you believe in (and what you don't)
 - What is your fitness philosophy?
 - What is your brand promise?
 - Make sure your messages, images, words are in line with this!
- 2. Use your customer avatar
 - Make sure you are writing as you would be to her / him!
- 3. Be crystal clear and specific!
 - What are you promoting (ie general awareness, specific to a program/service or a promotion) and what problem / transformation you are helping your client solve
 - Example: "Shed pounds, gain energy, feel fierce: Total Body Clean Up 28 day challenge!" Or "Whiter smile in 14 days"
 - Tip: brainstorm out all of your features and benefits for ideas
- 4. Always include a Call to action
 - Make sure everything you do has a call to action (ie sign up now, learn more, book now) and how to do that (ie a link back, phone number or email!)

Creating your marketing messages

- 5. Use your personal images and video
 - People want to know what it is like to experience working with you - not a pic off of the internet!
 - Use programs like www.canva.com for free marketing materials or Windows Moviemaker or Imovie to make workout vids
- 6. Create FREE, relevant and useful content
 - Write weekly blog posts (ie Fitness Fridays) to build up consistency and habit with clients to know what to expect from you
 - Keep inline with your brand!
 - Ideas include workouts, recipes, embed videos, have guest bloggers
- 7. Get customer testimonials
 - Ask for real life experiences, before and afters, stories you can share on social media, put on website, etc
 - Post on Google reviews, Yelp.ca to drive more traffic and increase your reputation

Other marketing tips to note

- 1. Set clear boundaries and expectations from the get go
 - Make sure your all your policies are easily accessible to your clients including refunds, cancellations, credits, guarantees, contact policies, etc
 - Put it on website, invoices, PayPal, etc so they must read before they purchase (especially important for personal training clients!)
- 2. Anticipate problems or objections
 - What could go wrong and how will I handle it?
 - What complaints could a customer have
- 3. Be Authentic!
 - Don't copy as customers can sense it. Be yourself and peeps will love it!
- 4. Share stories that apply with what is going on right now
 - What are the seasons, the celebrations, something that happened to you
 - Get personal and tell them from your standpoint
 - People love what you love but they always want to know what pisses you off...if you have a stance, share it!

Get a Website!

Creating your website

When it comes to having a business, product and / or service, you must have a website to show your professionalism.

How to build a website

- 1. Hire someone to build it for you
 - This can be expensive to start (ie may need a loan)
 - If so, make sure YOU can update the content yourself
 - Set very clear terms about what they will complete, timelines and updates
- 2. Create your own
 - Great sites now like www.shopify.com, www.wix.com and www.wordpress.org or www.wordpress.com
 - Ask other peeps you know and set up info calls

Creating your website

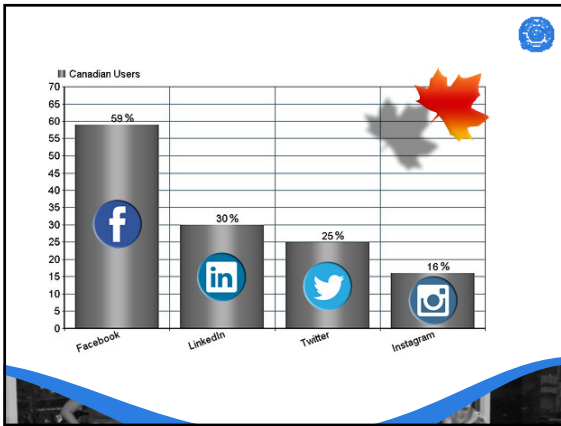

If creating your own, look for a provider that will allow you to include all of things you need:

- 1. That your website converts visitors into clients
 - Ie people to sign up and pay, join your mailing list, etc
 - You want it working for you 24 hours!
- 2. Easy for YOU to change and updates images, products, programs, etc
- 3.. Make sure to include:
 - About you or your company
 - What you offer (ie products, services, pricing)
 - Sign up options and how to contact you
 - Refund policy
 - Customer Testimonials
 - Blog

Social media marketing

How social media networks measure engagement

Each social media network defines engagement a little bit differently based on the features and functionality of their platform. It's important to understand how they measure engagement for you to measure the impact your social media marketing is having on your business.

Facebook defines engagement as likes, comments and shares.

Twitter defines engagement as @replies, retweets and mentions.

Instagram defines engagement as likes, comments and reposts

LinkedIn defines engagement as the number of interactions on a post plus the clicks and followers acquired divided by the number of impressions.

It's important to understand what each social network is measuring and how to interpret their insights and analytics

How to measure your social media

- The first step in measuring the impact of social media marketing is to create a goal.
- Once you have defined your goal, you can determine how you will measure. There are many ways that you can measure the success of your social media marketing.
- Here are three examples of what you can measure:
 1. Measure your likes, comments and shares on the content you share via your Facebook page. Monitor the type of content that receives the most engagement and continue to create similar content for your customers. For example, you may find out that sharing video results in more likes and shares versus an article.
 2. If your goal is to drive people to your website, monitor the response and engagement on the content that drives people to your website. And measure the click throughs and traffic to your website from social media. For more measurement, look at the analytics on your website to see the behavior of those coming to your website from social media.
 3. Create a hashtag for your business or for a specific campaign and monitor how it's used across the applicable social networks such as Facebook, Twitter, Pinterest and Instagram

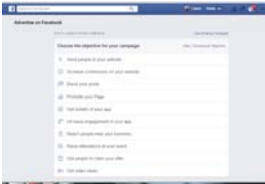

Also, always include a "where did you hear about us?" on all marketing so you can see what's working!

Facebook is still the top social media sites used by Canadians

Why do we like it the best?

- Offers interaction and engagement
- Videos, pictures
- Can boost posts and create offers
- Can target to specific areas
- Various objectives
- For list building
- Add credibility to your business

Let's take a look at creating ads in Facebook!

List building strategies

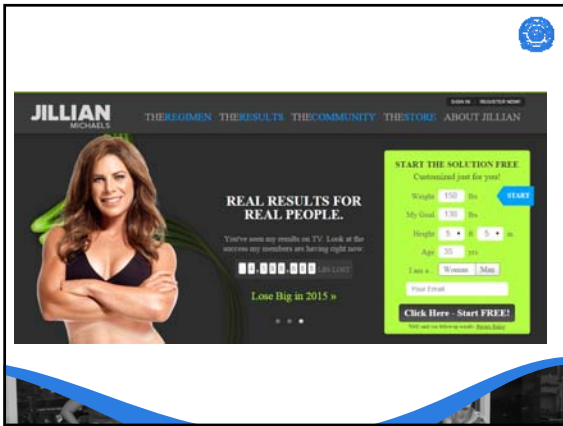

What is your marketing list?

This is the MOST important thing you will own in your company!

It is the email list of ALL people who have opted in to receive communications from you (ie they want you to talk to them!)

Your goal is to get everyone you come in contact with on your list. How to start to building your list for free?

1. Set up an account with an email provider like www.mailchimp.com
2. Make sure you are inline with Canada's Anti Spam Regulation for opt in and opt out (<http://lightspam.gc.ca/eic/site/030.nsf/eng/home>)
3. Ask all of your friends and family to join your list and send them link to receive communications from you
4. Add in your sign up for clients that they will be added
5. Add "Join my list" to your Facebook page
6. Add opt in pop up to your website to collect addresses (include an offer, bonus or reason to sign up ex "Get 5 free workouts!" or "Sign up and receive a free copy of Vanessa's Vegan Delights cookbook!")
7. Tradeshow booths have "Enter to win" with a sign off for
8. Guest blog or ask other peeps in the industry to guest blog with you

Your marketing toolbox

Below is a list of recommendations of marketing basics what you should have to help market your business and potential providers:

- Website – wordpress.org, wix.com
- Blog – wordpress.org
- Mail List provider for e-blasts and Opt in – www.mailchimp.com
- Design website – www.canva.com for marketing materials, business cards, e-posters, etc
- Facebook Page (not a friend page, a business page!)
- Twitter account
- Instagram Account
- Youtube Channel
- Linked In Account
- Pinterest Page
- Craigslist & Kijiji account – any free local class or event listings
- Social media management system: ex Hootsuite.com to manage all marketing channels at once
